Old Business – Networking and Learning Recommendations

Members suggested that SPARK build networking and/or socializing time into learning opportunities (both virtual and in person).

SPARK is issuing a Needs Assessment in the summer months of 2021 that includes a question about adding networking opportunities to our calendar of events. This data will be used to inform our learning opportunities starting in October 2021.

Members suggested that SPARK send out a poll to better understand providers' interest in attending in-person learning and networking opportunities. Questions should collection information about: 1. Agency restrictions on meeting in-person 2. Personal comfort level in convening in-person 3. Preferences between in-person vs. virtual

The Needs Assessment will also include questions about in-person readiness.

Old Business – Training Recommendations

Members proposed that SPARK consider options to offer training credits for recorded webinars. This could include having participants complete an assessment at the end of the webinar, submit notes, or complete a survey or reflection form in order to get a certificate.

At this time, SPARK does not have the capacity to review work that is completed post-training unless the program is engaged in a coaching cycle. To only offer training credit for recorded webinars for those that are in a coaching cycle is not equitable. While we will continue to explore our options here as the opportunity arises, we do not see this being feasible in the near future.
